Local endowment fund receives contributions

The Kewanna-Union Township Endowment Fund recently received contributions from two local organizations. Kewanna Metal Specialties, Inc. contributed $5,000 and Kewanna H.E.A.R.T. contributed $3,000. Both contributions will be matched by the Community Foundation at 50 cents on the dollar. Matching funds for new contributions are available through the end of the year. The fund will be used to support charitable projects and needs within Kewanna and Union Township. For more information about the Kewanna-Union Township Endowment Fund, contact the Community Foundation at 574-224-3223.

The Lake Bruce Conservancy District board of directors met Thursday, December 8, in the community room of the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Station. Four directors were present as well as eight freeholders and one guest. The treasurer's report and the minutes of the October 13th meeting were read and approved.

Director Brad Glasson reported on the new billing company that the district will be using as of January 1, 2012. The name of the new company is Gemini and Linda Kiester is the agent. She will mail out the new coupon books around December 15 and will include a notice of the new address to send payments to. If a property owner does not receive their coupon book by January 1st, contact Linda at 260-982-2252 or Gerald Porter at 574-653-9984.

Richard Denney, wastewater treatment plant operator, reported that everything is fine at the plant and there are currently no problems. Paul Bradley and Denney have constructed tarp covers to help the plant get through the winter months.

Chairman Porter reported on lake enhancement. He attended a meeting with the Department of Natural Resources November 3 and discussed weed treatment on the lake. The district will submit a request for 2012 grant money for weed control even though it will probably be denied.

Mr. Porter also reported on the order from IDEM to put a compliance plan in place within 60 days. Wightman-Petrie will do the plan for the district and will have a draft ready for review by December 16.

Representatives from Rural Development met with Gerald Porter and Richard Denney October 17 to inspect the wastewater treatment plant and see how things were running. The district got a good report.

Inspector Paul Bradley reported that no permits were issued this month.

The board voted to disqualify a property from remaining in the original sewer project making that property subject to a connection fee.

The terms for three board seats expire at the annual meeting in February. Nominees are Kathy Fisher for District 3, Brad Glasson for District 5 and Ron Wingerter for District 1. These nominees are unopposed and will be deemed elected at the meeting.

The board approved giving the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Department a $200 donation for the use of the community room for board meetings.

A sewer rate ordinance public hearing was held immediately following the meeting. Chairman Porter explained the changes to the rate ordinance. The billing rate will change from $4.22 to $5.00. The user fee was adjusted to keep the monthly bill at $89.00. The fee for a vacant lot will go from $48.38 to $49.16 for 2012.

The board will not meet in January. The next meeting will be the annual meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 16, in the fire department community room.

The News In Brief

Town clerk-treasurer Jenny Kay is looking for old black and white pictures of Kewanna scenes to place in the town hall. If you have any you would like to share, take them to her at the town hall, 308 S. Logan Street.

This Saturday, December 17, will be the last Saturday for the Farmers Market until spring. Hours are 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the Fulton County Museum. Vendors and craftsmen are invited to come. Breakfast/brunch of coffee, rolls and breads will be available.

The Kewanna town council will meet in special session at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, December 29, at the town hall to conduct year-end business.

The Emmaus Mission Center Food Pantry in Logansport is in need of food donations to meet the current demand. If you would like to donate food items, take them to the mission at 1203 College Street between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday or 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Graham Redweik earns Eagle Scout rank

Graham Redweik (right), son of David and Lora Redweik of Twelve Mile, earned his Eagle Scout rank in August.

Graham's Eagle project was to provide smoke alarms to all residents of Wayne Township. His inspiration was to honor the memory of the late David Berry who was a long-time Wayne Township volunteer fireman as well as past fire chief for the department. Special thanks go out to the Wayne Township Fire Department for providing a donation from Dave's memorial fund toward the project. Other contributors were Home Depot and private monetary donations. A total of 260 smoke detectors were distributed.

Graham is a member of Caston's Boy Scout Troop # 215. He follows his brother, Garrett, his father, David, and his uncle, Bob, in attaining the Eagle Scout rank. Graham received his Eagle

NIPSCO's Proposal to Fill Gap in Winter Bill Assistance Receives Approval

$2.1 million to help with expected shortfall in federal program
The Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission (IURC) approved part of a proposal recently made by NIPSCO to help fill the expected shortfall in available funds as a result of cuts in federal funding for the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) across the country - a program that offers much needed winter heating assistance locally for qualified NIPSCO households that are experiencing financial challenges.
LIHEAP support - which has been in existence for 30 years - is available to households falling within 150 percent of federal poverty guidelines, and is fully funded by a federal block grant offered through the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

With expected federal cuts amounting to an anticipated 27 percent shortfall this winter from last year's available LIHEAP funds for NIPSCO customers, the company proposed that $2.1 million in unused funds from an expired utility assistance program be allowed to help offset the cuts.

The approved $2.1 million is expected to help approximately 8,000 homes throughout NIPSCO's service area that would not have received help without these additional funds.

"This decision comes at a critical time as we head into the heart of the winter heating season," said Cindy Jackson, manager of energy efficiency and energy assistance programs for NIPSCO. "These programs are vital to the safety and well-being of thousands of individuals and families, especially to elderly, disabled and low-income customers, as well as those hit hardest by the economy."

AVAILABLE LIHEAP ASSISTANCE

General Enrollment began Nov. 1, and funds are administered by the Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority (IHCDA) and spread across northern Indiana through Community Action Agencies with outreach offices in each county.

Last year, more than 46,000 NIPSCO customers participated in LIHEAP. The level of assistance is based on several factors, including family size, income status and dwelling type.

Between Dec. 1 and March 15, natural gas utilities in Indiana do not disconnect service to customers enrolled in LIHEAP who are delinquent on their home heating bills.

Eligible applicants should contact their local Community Action Agency. A listing of agencies by county can be found at NIPSCO.com/paymentassistance, and customers are encouraged to contact the agency for a complete list of required documentation ahead of visiting in person.

NIPSCO CUSTOMER ASSISTANCE FOR RESIDENTIAL ENERGY (CARE) DISCOUNT PROGRAM

In addition to the assistance available through LIHEAP, the NIPSCO CARE discount program is designed to provide further bill reductions to LIHEAP-eligible customers. Once enrolled in LIHEAP, customers are automatically enrolled in the program, and reductions range from 11 to 26 percent, depending on the same criteria used by the state in determining the level of assistance.

NIPSCO HARDSHIP PROGRAM

For customers just outside the federal poverty guidelines for LIHEAP, the NIPSCO Hardship Program offers up to $200 in gas bill assistance to households between 151-200 percent of the federal poverty level. Hardship funds are available through many of the same local Community Action Agencies where LIHEAP funds are distributed.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES

A limited amount of energy assistance funds are available through local Township Trustee offices. Last year, approximately $1.2 million was distributed to help nearly 7,000 customers. NIPSCO customers are encouraged to contact their local Township Trustee to see what help is available.

"Regardless of income levels, it's important that any customer with bill-payment trouble contact NIPSCO immediately to discuss potential assistance options," added Jackson.

For more information on available payment assistance programs, customers are encouraged to visit

NIPSCO.com/paymentassistance. For more information on available energy-saving programs and other ways to save, visit

NIPSCO.com/SaveEnergy.

Letter To The Editor

An end of an era is drawing near - and what a great loss to our community. Even tho we want to wish Joe and Karen the very best in their retirement, we regret the loss of our "Observer". It has been a great tool of communication and will be dearly missed.

So long Observer, so long Karen and Joe Good, the communicators of Kewanna. They "are the town with the big heart".

We wish you the very best in your retirement, we will miss you and The Observer.

P.S. We will miss Julie's Sunday calls as well.

The Kewanna Progressive Association was quite pleased with the turnout at its community Christmas carry-in Tuesday. An estimated 200 persons enjoyed the food and fellowship.

Past and present Kewanna postal employees enjoyed their annual Christmas party and buffet dinner Saturday at the Moose Lodge in Rochester. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Wilson, Mr. Paul Ley, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rentschler, Mr. Raymond Zartman, Mr. John Prathafakis and guest, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cessna and Mr. and Mrs. Don Kegarise.

Lisa Sommers' piano students presented their 6th annual recital Wednesday, December 4. Over 150 persons were in attendance and enjoyed solos performed by each student. Students participating from Kewanna included Traci, Trisha and Trent Powell, Lindsay Smith and Kaitlin Sommers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sutton attended the Christmas program at St. John's Lutheran Church in Rochester Sunday evening. Their grandchildren, Luke and Kailah Sutton, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sutton, were in the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Kline of Monterey and Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of Elkhart were guests of their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Plante of Culver, for dinner out recently in celebration of the Kline's 45th wedding anniversary and the Miller's 43rd wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cook hosted a Christmas carry-in for members of the Kewanna United Methodist Church choir and cantata choir Saturday evening. Guests included Lois Kumler, Lois Wilson, Eris Gilliland, Ruth Ann Anderson, Beth Weller, Emogene Troutman, Wade Bussert, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Good, Mr. and Mrs. Don Woolington and Rev. and Mrs. Bryan Ton.

Learning to run

There are two types of people in this world: those who run and those who can't.

I always believed I belonged in the second group. I can walk just fine. I can do jumping jacks and a little yoga. I can exercise and lift weights. I can do a whole lot of things an ordinary person might define as physical exertion. Running didn't happen to be one of them. It was outside my realm of possibilities.

Or so I believed. Then, one unsuspecting day while on an ordinary, leisurely-paced walk, something foreign came over me and an unlikely thought crept into my head: Maybe I should try running.

I ignored the impulse at first because it was crazy. I am not a runner. Never have been. I can't run.

But that day on the tarred road - after I made sure no one was watching - I took a few tentative strides. Before I had a chance to think, "I can't," I'd covered most of a block. My lungs were about to burst, so I resumed my normal walking pace and huffed and puffed - trying to catch my breath - for what seemed like an eternity.

About a block later, I had the urge to do it again. I wasn't good at it. I couldn't go very far. I'm sure my form was flawed in numerous ways. The effort made me completely out of breath. But I was running. (Okay, probably more like jogging, but let's not get caught up in semantics.) The newness and the possibilities brought on a sense of exhilaration.

They say you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Anyone who believes such lore should meet my 81-year-old dad. He hasn't taken up running (yet) but he did cook his first ever turkey this Thanksgiving. Two years ago, his kitchen expertise consisted of hitting the button on the microwave and (perhaps) turning on the coffee.

Now he's roasted a turkey - to perfection. The bird was tender and juicy and such a success that he's already cooked a second one. He's doing other things in the kitchen as well. My dad has become a cook.

I guess the old apple doesn't fall far from the old tree. My dad is learning to cook; I am learning to run. Two old dogs learning new tricks.

Unlike my dad, I haven't mastered my new set of skills. You don't start out in the kitchen by roasting a turkey. You stir up a pot of soup, or give a go at scrambling a couple of eggs. You work up to the turkey. The same goes for running - and life.

Some people run marathons or 5K races. I run a teeny tiny bit - at best a block or two. Someday I may go the length of a 1K (impressive, isn't it?). Still, I am running.

A year ago my dad couldn't cook a turkey. A month ago I couldn't run. Now look at us.

There are two types of people in this world: those who run and those who believe they can't. I used to be a member of the latter group. That's changed, leaving one question: What else is out there that I can't do - yet?

EARTH TALK

Questions & Answers About Our Environment

Dear EarthTalk: I heard that the less meat one eats, the better it is for the environment. How so?
 -- Jason K., Sarasota, FL
 Our meat consumption habits take a serious toll on the environment. According to the Environmental Working Group (EWG), the production, processing and distribution of meat requires huge outlays of pesticides, fertilizer, fuel, feed and water while releasing greenhouse gases, manure and a range of toxic chemicals into our air and water. A lifecycle analysis conducted by EWG that took into account the production and distribution of 20 common agricultural products found that red meat such as beef and lamb is responsible for 10 to 40 times as many greenhouse gas emissions as common vegetables and grains.

Livestock are typically fed corn, soybean meal and other grains which have to first be grown using large amounts of fertilizer, fuel, pesticides, water and land. EWG estimates that growing livestock feed in the U.S. alone requires 167 million pounds of pesticides and 17 billion pounds of nitrogen fertilizer each year across some 149 million acres of cropland. The process generates copious amounts of nitrous oxide, a greenhouse gas 300 times more potent than carbon dioxide, while the output of methane—another potent greenhouse gas—from cattle is estimated to generate some 20 percent of overall U.S. methane emissions.

"If all the grain currently fed to livestock in the United States were consumed directly by people, the number of people who could be fed would be nearly 800 million," reports ecologist David Pimentel of Cornell University's College of Agriculture and Life Sciences. He adds that the seven billion livestock in the U.S. consume five times as much grain as is consumed directly by the entire U.S. population.

Our meat consumption habits also cause other environmental problems. A 2009 study found that four-fifths of the deforestation across the Amazon rainforest could be linked to cattle ranching. And the water pollution from factory farms (also called concentrated animal feeding operations or CAFOs)—whereby pigs and other livestock are contained in tight quarters—can produce as much sewage waste as a small city, according to the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC). Further, the widespread use of antibiotics to keep livestock healthy on those overcrowded CAFOs has led to the development of antibiotic-resistant strains of bacteria that threaten human health and the environment in their own right.

Eating too much meat is not good for our health, with overindulgence linked to increasing rates of heart disease, cancer and obesity. Worldwide, between 1971 and 2010, production of meat tripled to around 600 billion pounds while global population grew by 81 percent, meaning that we are eating a lot more meat than our grandparents. Researchers extrapolate that global meat production will double by 2050 to about 1.2 trillion pounds a year, putting further pressure on the environment and human health.

For those who can't give up meat fully, cutting back goes a long way toward helping the environment, as does choosing meat and dairy products from organic, pasture-raised, grass-fed animals. "Ultimately, we need better policies and stronger regulations to reduce the environmental impacts of livestock production," says EWG's Kari Hammerschlag "But personal shifting of diets is an important step."

FULTON COUNTY LOCAL DISASTER EMERGENCY DECLARATION ORDINANCE

Fulton County Board of Commissioners: Ordinance No. 112111, An Ordinance addressing Local Disaster Emergency Declarations and Travel Advisories

WHEREAS, the Board of Commissioners of Fulton County ("Board") previously adopted Ordinance No. 010699 which was adopted for the purpose of declaring weather related emergencies in Fulton County, Indiana; and

WHEREAS, it is the intent of this Ordinance to protect the health and well being of our citizens, to keep residents informed of significant weather related county road conditions, to facilitate the passage of essential emergency vehicles on county roads and highways in times of weather emergencies by minimizing the number of stalled and abandoned vehicles, to assist the county highway department in clearing the county roadways by eliminating stranded vehicles and to amend the existing ordinance in view of the enactment of IC 10-14-3-29.5; and

WHEREAS, under IC 10-14-3-29, it is the duty of the principal executive officer of each Indiana political subdivision to determine when it shall become necessary to declare a local disaster emergency for said political subdivision to activate the response and recovery aspects of all applicable disaster emergency plans, to authorize the furnishing of aid and assistance under such plans and to issue any necessary local travel advisories in accordance with IC 10-14-3-29.5.

BE IT THEREFORE ORDAINED BY THE BOARD THAT:

Section 1. Title

This ordinance shall be known as the Local Disaster Emergency Declaration Ordinance of Fulton County, Indiana and shall apply to all roads, highways or right-of-ways maintained by the county highway department ("Roads"). The mandatory provisions of the ordinance and of any Local Disaster Emergency issued pursuant to the ordinance, including the prohibitions on travel and the penalties for violating those prohibitions shall not apply to streets maintained by a city or town within the county nor to a state highway maintained by the Indiana Department of Transportation nor to a federal interstate highway situated within the county.

Section 2. Procedure

The Board, after consultation with:

- A. The Emergency Management Advisory Council
- B. The County Sheriff;
- C. The County Emergency Management/Homeland Security Director; and;
- D. The County Highway Superintendent,

if available, or the respective representative designated by each as the person to consult in his/her absence for the purpose of recommending a declaration of local disaster emergency, may declare a local disaster emergency which may also contain a "warning level" travel advisory by executive order when, in the Board's judgment, by majority rule, such order would be appropriate under IC 10-14-3-29 and in the best interest of the public safety and welfare of the residents of Fulton County, Indiana.

If only one member of the Board is available to sign the declaration of local disaster emergency, he/she can declare a local disaster emergency if he or she has obtained and documented the verbal or written concurrence of at least one other board member.

If, with or without the issuance of a declaration of local disaster emergency, the Board or the Emergency Management Agency Director determines that conditions require an "Advisory" or "Watch" level or travel advisory, the Board, by majority rule or the Emergency Management Agency Director, upon written notice to the Board may issue an "advisory" or "watch" travel advisory.

Pursuant to IC 10-14-3-29.5, a "warning" level travel advisory may be issued only after or as a part of a declaration of local disaster emergency. Such emergency shall continue in effect until the above mentioned Board members and/or Officials or their respective designees who declared the emergency thereafter determine an emergency no longer exists and terminate the emergency order.

The Board may declare a "warning" level travel advisory upon its determination that the conditions are appropriate for the issuance of a local disaster emergency under IC 10-14-3-29.5, and the further determination that the criteria set forth in Section 3, below, have been met:

Section 3. Local Travel Advisories

A local travel advisory shall be declared in accordance with IC 10-14-3-29.5 and this ordinance. The purpose of a local travel advisory is to keep the residents of Fulton County, Indiana informed of the weather and county road conditions, and to assist County Highway Department in the clearing of the county roadways by eliminating stranded vehicles:

3.1 Advisory Level Travel Advisory
This level may be declared when routine travel or activities may be restricted in areas of the county because of hazardous situation; citizens should use caution or avoid these areas. Schools and businesses may begin to implement their emergency action plans.

3.2 Watch Level Travel Advisory
This level may be declared when conditions are threatening to the safety of the public. Only essential travel is recommended (i.e. to and from work, emergency situations, etc.) At this level, emergency action plans should be implemented by businesses, schools, government agencies and other organizations.

3.3 Warning Level Travel Advisory
This level may be declared when roads have become impassable and the County Highway Department is not able to keep the roadways cleared due to extreme weather conditions such as a severe snow fall, high drifts or blizzard like conditions are present. Travel may be restricted to emergency management workers ONLY and essential emergency travel members of the public as the Board may further direct, such as privately employed health care workers. Further restrictions that the Board deems necessary may be included within the local disaster declaration.

Section 4. Publication
Any order or proclamation declaring, continuing, or terminating a local disaster emergency shall be given prompt and general publicity and shall be filed promptly in the office of the clerk of the political subdivision pursuant to IC 10-14-3-22 (b)(2). Publication and broadcast of an Advisory, Watch or Warning Level Travel advisory shall be made or caused to be made by the Board or other officials designating the level of travel advisory using a press release to all law enforcement agencies, fire departments, hospitals and news media in the county. The declaration shall be promptly forwarded to the Indiana Department of Homeland Security and shall be kept on file by the Fulton County Emergency Management Agency/Department of Homeland Security, County Clerk and County Auditor.

Section 5. Exemptions
Vehicles which shall be exempt from the travel and parking restrictions imposed in a travel advisory pursuant to this Ordinance shall include medical assistance, law enforcement, fire department, emergency management, public utility, and fuel hauling vehicles and employees of any of the above exempt services, if engaged in performing their respective duties. Any other vehicles violating this Ordinance or any of the parking restrictions contained in local declaration of disaster emergency or a "warning" travel advisory are subject to removal by towing or other means at the expense of the owner of the vehicle, when such towing and/or service is deemed necessary by a duly authorized representative of any one or more of the following: the County Highway Department; the County Sheriff's Department; a State Conservation Officer, or the Indiana State Police.

Section 6. Penalties
Any person violating any provisions of this ordinance or the vehicle use or parking restrictions contained in a local declaration of disaster emergency or a "warning" travel advisory shall be guilty of the commission of an infraction and may be fined any sum not to exceed $100.00 and such shall be enforceable in any court of law, duly authorized by Indiana state law, and in addition to such fine the court shall be authorized to direct the violator to repay the County any monetary losses or expenses incurred in the incident.

Section 7. Repeal of Prior Ordinance
The prior local disaster emergency ordinance, Ordinance Number 010699 is hereby repealed as of the effective date of this ordinance. Signed and approved on the 5th day of December, 2011 by a majority vote upon first reading.

EARTH TALK

Questions & Answers About Our Environment

Dear EarthTalk: I've heard of the slow food movement, but what is "slow money" all about?

-- Phil Nimkoff, New York, NY

"Slow Money" is the name for a movement started by socially conscious investing pioneer and author, Woody Tasch, who essentially borrowed the conceptual framework of "Slow Food"—whereby participants eschew convenience-oriented "fast" foods, instead filling up their plates with traditional, unprocessed and, ideally, locally produced foods—and applied it to personal finance and investing. As such, Slow Money is dedicated to connecting investors to their local economies by marshaling financial resources to invest in small food enterprises and local food systems.

Tasch's vision for Slow Money, now not just a concept but also a non-profit organization, seeks nothing less than a complete overhaul of the way we think about and spend our money, channeling much more of it into producing healthy local food, strengthening local communities instead of multinational corporations, and restoring our flagging economy in the process. Instead of venture capital bankrolling far flung high tech start-ups, Tasch hopes to see "nurture capital" funding local merchants and producers who, in turn, plug half of their profits back into their communities, ensuring one small local virtuous circle that values soil fertility, carrying capacity, a sense of place, care of the commons, diversity, nonviolence, and cultural, ecological and economic health as much as financial return. Tasch hopes to get there by persuading a million Americans to invest at least one percent of their assets in local food systems by 2020.

Tasch started Slow Money in November 2008 after the publication of his book, Inquiries into the Nature of Slow Money: Investing as if Food, Farms and Fertility Mattered. Hitting the road to promote the book and the nascent movement in 2009, he was able to attract 450 intrigued investors, farmers and other entrepreneurs to Santa Fe, New Mexico to trade ideas at a three-day gathering. "We just wanted to see who would show up, but four of the small food enterprises that presented raised an aggregate of $260,000," says Tasch. Tasch then organized another event for some 600 attendees the following June in Shelburne, Vermont. Investors there poured $4.2 million into 12 more producers, and that's when Tasch knew he was really on to something. More than 1,000 people converged in San Francisco for the third event in October 2011, and Tasch expects untold amounts of "slow capital" to be changing hands for the better as a result.

Whether or not you have money to invest in Slow Money's virtuous circles, you can show your support by visiting the group's website and electronically signing the organization's Principles, a list of six core beliefs shared by the Slow Money community. Or if you have just $25, you could park it with the organization's Soil Trust, which will seed small food enterprises that promote soil fertility in locales from coast to coast. Tasch sees the Soil Trust as key to opening up the Slow Money concept to all of us and achieving the group's goal of getting a million Americans involved in the movement over the next decade.

Another key to achieving Tasch's goal is growth of leadership at the local level. To that end, a dozen autonomous local chapters have sprung up nationwide, with more sure to come as word gets out. The local groups have already gifted or lent hundreds of thousands of dollars to entities working to improve their own community "foodsheds." Now we all have a way to truly put our money where our mouths are.

Town & Country CHATTER...

By: Julie Brown Ph.: (574) 653-2451

Ruth Cogdill had a surprise visitor Monday, Dec. 5. Her neighbor, Betty Hinderlider, came to see her. Betty welcomed Ruth back home and they had a wonderful visit, catching up on all the family news.

Julie Brown had an exciting time Thursday evening, Dec. 8. She attended the Caston vs. Argos junior high boys' basketball game and the Caston Elementary School's Christmas program. It was a matter of watching the seventh grade game in the elementary gymnasium, then walking over to the high school gymnasium to watch the kindergarteners' portion of the concert, back to the elementary gymnasium to watch the last half of the eighth grade game and then back to watch the remainder of the concert. Her "munchkins," Tanner Sutton and Addison Zimpleman, are kindergarteners and Luke Sutton is a player on the eighth grade team. The boys' parents, Steve and Wendy Sutton, also traveled between events; their grandfather, Jim Sutton of Fulton, and their brother, Jacob Kiss, spent the evening watching both basketball games; and their grandmothers, Arvella Sutton of Fulton and Mary Personett attended the entire concert.

Leonard and Nancy Evers had surprise visitors Saturday, Dec. 10. Coming by for a wonderful family chat were their granddaughter and her family, Kristin and Jonathan Rockey and Zoe of North Carolina. This was the first time Leonard and Nancy had been able to see and hold their great-granddaughter.

Barb and Tom LaFollette traveled to Kokomo Saturday. Joining them for the day were their children and grandchildren, Chris LaFollette, Michelle, Michael, Rebecca, Elizabeth and Thomas of LaPorte and Karina and Terry Bohac and Nick of Rochester. The family made the trip to attend the Eikenberry Christmas gathering. This year 29 members of the family were able to get-together for the carry-in meal, games and lots of visiting.

Renee Colley spent the weekend in Valparaiso. Saturday. She and Dick Fedorchak were guests of her sister-in-law and her husband, Debbie and John Zupancic, at Crown Point. Renee and Dick were among those who enjoyed attending the Zupancics' annual holiday open house.

Jerry and Kay Brown and their son, Mark Brown, had an exciting time Saturday evening. They were attending the Connersville vs. Pendleton High School boys' basketball game. Jerry and Kay's son, Kerry Brown, is coach for Connersville. While at the game, the Browns visited with former Kewanna resident, Bill Stoudt.

Florence Hogan had working visitors Sunday, Dec. 11. Bringing along some groceries and a wreath for the front of her house were her daughter and son-in-law, Wendy and Dan Kelly of Lafayette. The Kellys also helped Florence set up her Christmas tree and most of her holiday decorations.

Pauline Brown was in Rochester Monday, Dec. 12. She met Sharlene Haimbaugh and Barbara Brown for lunch at the Family Plaza truck stop.

Julie Brown had a nice time Monday evening. She accompanied Blake and Stacey Kesler and Mary Personett to the Caston high school Christmas concert at McHale Auditorium in Logansport. Three of Julie's "munchkins" were among the performers, Zek Kesler, Katie Hawkey and Luke Sutton.

Those persons who will be having birthdays next week (so please remember to give them your best regards) are:

Christopher Baldwin, Barrett Brown, Nancy Luketich and Carson Paulik, Dec. 18; Ingrid Cogdill, Todd Doty, Donna Mitchell, Blake Sowder and Missy Young, Dec. 19; Marilyn Fisher and Corey Mills, Dec. 20; Bev Baldwin, Robert Basham, Austin Heiden, Jonathan Masteller, Tim Mikesell and Chris Thomas, Dec. 21; Jennifer Bland, Danny Corbett, and Mildred Engle, Dec. 22; Bruce Bangel and Kenan Kimble, Dec. 23; and Edward Carr, Emily French and Karon McColley, Dec. 24.

There are five couples who will be celebrating their wedding anniversaries next week: Mr. and Mrs. Brad Smitley and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Vigus, Dec. 19; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Steven Metzger, Dec. 20; and Mr. and Mrs. Justin Goelz, Dec. 22.

The News In Brief

The Fulton County Historical Society board of directors will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday, December 17, at the Fulton County Museum.

A Rochester landmark, Centennial Tower, was destroyed by fire early Friday morning, December 9. Damage to the building was so extensive that demolition was begun immediately in the interest of safety. Firemen from all six county fire departments fought the blaze as well as firemen from Plymouth and North Manchester. The cause of the fire has not been determined and may be hard to establish.
