New historical marker for Potawatomi chief at Culver

(by: Shirley Willard)

A historical marker for Chief Nas-wau-kee was dedicated Sept. 16 at Culver beside Lake Maxinkuckee. A crowd of about 50 attended. The marker is a big boulder with a metal plaque, the Eagle Scout project of Bryan McKinney, Winamac Troop 229. The historical marker is located in the Culver park just east of the beach, at the start of the "Indian Trails" that lead to Culver Military Academy.

Fulton County Historian, Shirley Willard, Rochester, spearheaded the fund raising for the project as she is treasurer of the Potawatomi Trail of Death Association, a branch of the Fulton County Historical Society. Willard invited Michale Edwards and her daughter Taylor Edwards of Moore, Oklahoma, descendants of Chief Nas-wau-kee, to attend and be honored at the annual Trail of Courage Living History Festival Sept. 17-18 at Rochester.

Willard has been instrumental in getting historical markers from Indiana to Kansas for the 1838 Potawatomi Trail of Death. There are now 80 historical markers, all paid for with donations. See www.potawatomi-tda.org. She has given speeches to all the counties from Indiana to Kansas and is available for programs. She can be reached at wwillard@rtcol.com or 574-223-2352.

Historical Marker wording: Potawatomi Chief Nas-wau-kee

Prominent chief and speaker Nas-wau-kee. (or Nees-waugh-gee) signed several treaties with the U.S. government. In 1836, he ceded his two sections of land just east of Lake Maxinkuckee and regretfully agreed to go west within two years. Spelling the chief's name as Nas-waw-ky, the artist George Winter sketched him at the Lake Kee-wau-nay (now Lake Bruce) treaty council of July 1837, where he gave a heart-rending speech on why the Indians did not want to leave. In August, Nas-wau-kee called his white neighbors together at his village and gave a tearful farewell address, shaking everyone's hand. His band joined Chief Kee-wau-nay's band to be conducted by George Proffit to Kansas. The 47 Potawatomi journeyed from August 23 to October 23, 1837, without loss of life (unlike the 1838 Trail of Death, on which 42 died of 859 Potawatomi on the trip). At Nas-wau-kee's urging, Father Christian Hoecken established St. Mary's Mission at Sugar Creek, Kansas, where the Potawatomi lived 1838-1849. A historical marker there records the chief as Nesfwawke. The Mackety family, from the Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi, are Nas-wau-kee's known descendants. Erected 2011, Eagle Scout project of Bryan McKinney.

The metal plaque cost $750 and was paid for with donations.

Thanks to the following donors: Culver Antiquarian & Historical Society, Marshall County Tourism, Marcia Adams, Culver; Dan & Dana (Richards) Skulan, Kewanna; Steve & Sherry McKinney, Winamac; Melissa Christiansen, Plymouth; Tippecanoe River Wythougan Daughters of American Revolution; Carol Layman, North Vernon; Jeannie Wamego Van Veen, Tahlequah, Ok.; Carmelita Wamego Skeeter, Tulsa, Ok.; Dolores Grizzell, Winamac, Nancy & Arthur Baxter, Indianapolis; Richard E. Ford, Wabash, Indiana.

Also thanks to Culver Park Department and Leonard Bennett, Culver, for attaching the plaque to the boulder.

Thanks for the four flags from Potawatomi nations: Citizen Band in Oklahoma, Prairie Band in Kansas, Forest Band in Wisconsin, and Pokagon Band in Michigan and northern Indiana. These flags were donated to the Potawatomi Trail of Death Association to be used at dedications and the Trail of Courage.

Descendants and organizers gathered Friday Sept. 16, 2011, to dedicate a historical marker to Chief Nas-wau-kee, a Potawatomi chief who lived on the east shore of Lake Maxinkuckee until 1837. On hand was the chief's great-great-grand-niece Michale Edwards, who traveled from Oklahoma for the event and who discussed with the audience her discovery of her relation to the chief, who she described as "gentle, mild-mannered and trusting." The monument is located in Culver's town park just east of the beach.

Taking part in the dedication were Boy Scout troops 229 and 209 and Cub pack 290 of Winamac and Culver - presenting the colors, Steve McKinney - Scoutmaster Troop 229.

The youth will serve a baked potato-chili-salad bar from 5:30 to 7 p.m. There will also be craft and bake sale items. Tickets are $6 in advance or $8 at the door (or $7 plus a toy or non-perishable food item.)

All proceeds raised from the potato bar will go to purchase gifts, clothing, toys, etc. for those with needs this Christmas.

Last, but certainly not least, the youth will sponsor a talent show set for 6 p.m. The registration fee is $2 per person or two non-perishable food items. This event is open to any aged person. Come show off your talents in comedy, singing, dancing, sports, public speaking, instrumentals, skits or any reasonable God-given talent you feel blessed to have been given. Prizes will be awarded in all age/talent categories and to the over-all winner.

The youth will also be accepting new toys, new clothes and non-perishable food items from now through December 3. There will be drop off locations throughout town or call Karla Kreamer at 574-249-1499 for pickup. If you know of a family in need, please give their name to Karla.

"CHRISTmas in Kewanna" event at Methodist Church

The Crossroads and Turning Point youth groups at the Kewanna United Methodist Church is hosting a "CHRISTmas in Kewanna" event Saturday, December 3, in the church annex.

This fund raising day is designed to help support those in the community who have helped support the youth groups. They want to give back to such an amazing and giving community. Everyone is asked to keep their schedule open and support the area youth and families in need.

A free clothes drive will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. The group will have clothes in sizes newborn to young adult available for anyone in need. If you would like to make a monetary donation to this event, all proceeds received to support the clothes drive will go to the Barnabas Fund, which helps assist those facing financial burden in the community.

The News In Brief

All Fulton County government offices will be closed Thursday and Friday, November 24 and 25, in observance of Thanksgiving.

The Kewanna town council will receive bids for its 1975 bucket truck at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, December 1, at the town hall. For more information, call 574-653-2112.

Non-perishable food items and paper products can be dropped off at the Community State Bank, Kewanna branch, for the Kewanna Community Food Pantry. Also needed are dish soap, laundry soap, etc.

Farmers Market will be in session every Saturday in November and December at the Fulton County Museum from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Produce, baked goods, frozen meats, etc. will be available.

The American Red Cross will conduct a blood drive Friday, December 2, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Classrooms A & B at Woodlawn Hospital. Eligible donors may sign up by calling Becky at 574-224-1180. Individuals who are 17 years of age, meet weight and height requirements, and are in generally good health may be eligible to give blood. Donors should have their Red Cross donor card or other form of positive ID.

Jesse Rude has been sworn in as a member of the Fulton County Council, filling the seat left by the death of Sonja Easterday.

State Representative Doug Gutwein, R - Francesville, was one of four state legislators awarded the Indiana Chamber's Small Business Champion Award. The award is given to legislators who consistently vote to improve Indiana's small business climate.

Fulton County United Ministries is seeking food and monetary donations for the holiday season. Food may be dropped off at the food pantry, 625 Pontiac St., or placed in collection boxes located throughout Rochester. Monetary donations may be mailed to P.O. Box 531, Rochester, IN 46975.

The 11th annual Light 'Up Logansport Parade will be held at 7 p.m. Friday, November 25, in downtown Logansport. The floats in the parade will be on display at the Little Turtle Waterway plaza until January 1.

The Emmaus Mission Center Food Pantry in Logansport is in need of food donations to meet the current demand. If you would like to donate food items, take them to the mission at 1203 College Street between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday or 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Looking Back.....

SIXTY YEARS AGO November 30, 1951

Dick Garner announced today that the Kewanna Grain Co. has purchased the Standard Elevator from Standard Elevator Co., Inc., of Indianapolis. Garner, who owns stock in the local corporation along with George Van Meter and Elmer Seidel, stated that possession would not take place until March 1. Garner will be the general manager.

Adam Sommers, who owns and operates Sommers Grain Co., Grass Creek, re-opened Thursday, November 29, after a remodeling program which included the installation of more than $3,000 in new machinery, a new blower system and general renovation. Sommers has owned the elevator for three years. The plant has been operating on a part time basis for the past two weeks during the modernization process.

Tommy Williams, 8-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Williams, died Wednesday evening of pneumonia, in spite of efforts of the Rochester Fire Department to revive him. Tommy, who has a twin brother, was active that evening, although a little "Fussy". His parents attributed this to the fact that he was cutting teeth, until he suddenly passed out.

Ronald Miller, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, had the misfortune of fracturing a small bone in his left leg, halfway between the knee and ankle, while playing in the barn Thanksgiving Day. Ronald's leg has been placed in a cast for four weeks and he is attending school with the aid of crutches.

Robert Lee Eytcheson, 25, of near Fulton, lost his left hand at the wrist in a corn picker accident late Wednesday afternoon, November 21. Eytcheson was attempting to clear the clogged corn picker which he was operating when his hand was caught by the rollers. He walked to his home where his wife and father rushed him to Woodlawn Hospital.

Private Donald Carr, son of Arvin Carr, Kewanna, is nearing completion of a 16-week training cycle with a unit of the 6th Armored Division at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. As a trainee, he received eight weeks of basic training and is now completing an additional eight weeks of engineering training.

Graveside services were held Saturday afternoon at the IOOF Cemetery here for John Paul and Paul James, infant sons of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Heinsen. The boys were born Friday morning, November 23, at Memorial Hospital in Logansport. One baby died at 7 p.m. Friday and the second at 7 a.m. Saturday.

FIFTY-FIVE YEARS AGO November 29, 1956

The Grass Creek community honored Grace Downs at a carry-in supper Friday evening, November 23, at the school. Grace retired last week after serving the community for 49 years as post mistress.

Mrs. Donald Cohagan shot a fox on their farm on State Road 17 south of Kewanna Tuesday. She expects to collect the bounty later in the week.

Richard Mills of Indianapolis has purchased the Tomlinson Garage on Main Street in Kewanna. Mr. Mills is well known here having vacationed often at Lake Bruce. He expects to open a garage in the spring at which time he will move his family here and occupy the apartment above the garage.

Fire caused damages of approximately $8,000 to the Harold Leasure residence in Pulaski County Monday afternoon. The blaze was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs.

Ralph Shrader, who gave the alarm. Kewanna and Winamac fire departments responded. The origin of the fire is not known.

Woodson Ingram, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Lee Ingram of here, will open a furniture store here in the near future. He presently operates a similar store in North Judson. The new enterprise will be located in the building formerly used by the Farmers and Merchants Bank. The building is now being cleaned and renovated for the new tenant.

Loren Fry, Fulton, was seriously injured Tuesday while working on the C & O Railroad near Kewanna. Loren received serious head injuries when the tongs on a derrick, which hooks over the rails, hit him on the side of the head. He had dodged one rail, but it was impossible for him to dodge the hook. He was taken to the Railroad Hospital in Peru.

Mrs. Carl Smith, Kewanna, has received word from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, that he has been confined to a hospital in Florida where they had gone for the winter. He is suffering from a heart ailment, but expects to leave the hospital soon.

FIFTY YEARS AGO November 30, 1961

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graffis, Kewanna, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to David Boyer, son of Dr. Grace Boyer and the late J. W. Boyer of Marion. Miss Graffis, a graduate of Kewanna High School and Taylor University, is teaching at Pulaski. Mr. Boyer graduated from Taylor University and is now attending the University of Pennsylvania Law School in Philadelphia. The couple is planning a June 3 wedding.

Private William J. Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Werner, Rt. 1, Kewanna, is currently undergoing Army basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. John Huffman, Rt. 1, Kewanna, are the parents of a daughter born in Memorial Hospital, Logansport. The baby weighed 10 pounds and 4 ounces and has been named Julia Ann.

The Kewanna Saddle Club elected officers at its November meeting. Chosen to serve were Elston Sayers, president; Herman Ysberg, vice president; Golda Carter, secretary-treasurer; Artha Kreamer, reporter; and directors, Ralph Kreamer, Kenneth Hood and Tom Carter.

The Kewanna Indians edged out the North Miami Warriors Wednesday night, 63-60, to maintain their undefeated season. Scoring for the 4-0 Indians were Bruce Mills with 19; Richard Graffis, 18; Tom Mitchell, 15; Marion Foust, 7; and Dick Carlson, 4.

Clyde Garner, Mrs. Amy Wilson, Mrs. Warren Gillespie and Mrs. Earl Mills attended the annual Woodlawn Hospital Auxiliary achievement day last Tuesday at the First Methodist Church in Rochester.

Bill, Barry and Cheryl Worl spent their Thanksgiving vacations here.

Jerry Kimble spent Friday and Saturday in South Bend with friends.

John Halsema and Jerry Myers bagged an eight-point buck at the Tippecanoe River State Park last week. Martin Van Meter accompanied them.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO December 1, 1966

Effie Grace Downs, 77, Grass Creek, died at 6:50 a.m. Saturday in St. Joseph's Hospital, Logansport, after a lingering illness. Miss Downs was the post mistress at Grass Creek for 49 years.

The Kewanna Progressive Association held its annual banquet Monday evening. Si Deeb of Rochester was the master of ceremonies. John

"Looking Back"

Agnew gave a report of last year's activities. The incoming president, Kenneth Cook, reported a 50 percent increase in membership and outlined plans for next year. Entertainment was provided by Mary Jane Zellers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller, Walton, are the parents of a daughter born November 21 at Memorial Hospital in Logansport. The baby weighed 4 pounds and 11 ounces and has been named Tracy Lynette. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, Rt. 3, Kewanna, are the paternal grandparents.

Barbara, Sally and J Masteller, all students at Purdue University, spent their Thanksgiving vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Masteller.

Nancy Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Corbett, and Mary Stoudt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Stoudt, have received word that they have been accepted to participate in the MYF seminar in New York February 26 - March 4.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Eikenberry Funeral Home in Peru for J. O. Wells, 80, prominent Peru realtor. Survivors include a son, James O. Wells, Jr., Rt. 4, Rochester.

Graveside services were held Monday for Debra Kay Mollencupp, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Edward Mollencupp, Rt. 1, Kewanna. She died at 9:27 p.m. Saturday in South Bend Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for two days. She was born last Monday at Plymouth.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
November 26, 1981

Funeral services were held recently for Dr. Robert Arendell of Evansville who died November 17 after an illness of three years. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Earl Bangel, Lake Bruce.

Kewanna fans were treated to a real thriller Friday night when the Indians returned to their "home" floor at Leiters Ford after several years' absence. The Indians dropped an 83-80 decision to visiting Huntington Catholic in a double overtime. Jeff Markley was Kewanna's leading scorer with 32 points. He also had 14 rebounds. Ryan Hall collected 16 points and Randy Hall added 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cook will host a Christmas dinner December 5 for members of the Kewanna unit of the Fulton County Emergency Medical Service. Darla Greer, Nancy Byfield and Brenda Johnston recently attended an in-service at South Bend on hypoglycemia and diabetes.

The Kewanna Saddle Club met November 18 for a carry-in Thanksgiving dinner. Grace was offered by Clem Good. Current officers were retained for next year. They are Dan Hood, president; Golda Bailey, secretary and reporter; and Darla Greer, treasurer.

The November meeting of the New Idea Club was held at the home of Katrina Carlisle. Martha Ann Cook gave the group a tour of the local ambulance. During the business meeting, Judy Graham was elected as the new treasurer; Sheri Cook was put in charge of the flower fund; and Jill Leazenby was elected as the new vice president and historian.

The Union Township 4-H clubs held their achievement night November 19 at the Kewanna United Methodist Church annex. County achievement medals went to Andy Rude, Lisa Shrader, Stephenie Brown and Denice Wegner. County achievement trophies were awarded to Michelle Shrader and Tom Rude.

Students in Janet Yocum's home economics class participated in a mock wedding recently. The wedding ceremony and reception highlighted several weeks of planning on paper of the wedding, reception and premarital counseling. Participants included Trina Eastwood, flower girl; Derrick Carlisle, ring bearer; Teresa Frasa, maid-of-honor; Robin Bartram, bride; Todd Mikesell, groom; Kimberly Anderson, bride; Tony Milliman, groom; and Jeff Milliman, best man.

Violet Troutman and Ruth Urbin visited their granddaughter, April Troutman, and her first grade class at Columbia Elementary School in Rochester last Wednesday during visitation day.

Their granddaughter, Andrea Yocum, was a member of the cast. Andrea's mother, Janet Evers Yocum, was in the same play 21 years ago at Kewanna High School.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
November 28, 1991

State Road 17 south of Kewanna is open once again, about one month behind schedule. The road was closed August 5 to replace the bridge over Mill Creek. It was scheduled to reopen November 1.

The 20th Century Extension Homemakers Club met November 14 in the home of Janece Herrold. Joe Grady gave an interesting talk on recycling. He gave examples of items that can be recycled and announced new hours for the collection center in Rochester.

Leonard and Nancy Evers attended a production of Strangers in the Night at North Miami High School recently.

Don and Violet Troutman attended the Tri-Epsilon production of Our Town at Rochester High School last week. Their grandchildren, Adam and Alissa Troutman, were members of the cast.

Have fun shopping

Shopping used to be fun - before I became a mom and started to put things like dog food and toilet bowl cleaner in my cart. When you are buying the likes of bleach and coffee filters and have a list as long as Santa's beard, shopping feels more like a chore than an event. What if we could change that? What if you could go to the store without a list because you didn't have anything to buy? What if you were there just to have fun? What sort of silly trouble could you get yourself into?

Let's see.
(Disclaimer: Please note that while none of these activities hurts or injures another person, I don't advocate actually engaging in them because adults should not be allowed to have such silly fun. While I wouldn't carry out any of the ideas listed, I do get a jingle thinking about them. I guess you could say I have a youthful sense of humor.)

Forget about Black Friday. Instead create your own Wacky Wednesday at the superstore. Imagine all the fun things you could do if you went shopping and had nothing you needed to buy:

For instance, your could ask to see the manager and request free tax advice.

Find the outdoor furniture section and take a nap on a hammock.

Go through the checkout line with one pack of gum. When it comes time to pay, ask for the employee discount.

Try to return yesterday's newspaper on the grounds that it is outdated.

While at a craft or fabric store, carry a skein of yarn to the measuring table and tell the clerk you'd like a yard and a half.

Move a small table from the furniture section. Set it up in the cracker aisle and offer free samples.

Take a bunch of DVDs to the register and tell the cashier you want to rent them.

Ask if you can sample the toilet paper.

Approach random shoppers, asking for their autograph.

Take advantage of a buy-one-get-one free offer and then attempt to return the "buy-one" item.

Go to one of those dollar stores and continually approach the clerk with different items. Each time ask, "How much is this?"

Leisurely stroll through the grocery aisles, stopping to tell people that you are allergic to various items in their carts. For added effect, show them your EpiPen.

Go to the customer service counter and tell them you want to return your little sister.

In the accessories department, ask the clerk if you can buy just one glove.

Test out the ring tone on your cell phone; pretend it is real and answer. Approach a random shopper and say, "Phone call for you."

Ask if the toothbrushes are returnable.

Make it a point to be at the superstore early in the morning so you can join in on their calisthenics.

In the pet department, ask the clerk which type of tropical fish cats like to eat best.

In the produce section, tell the clerk you have a special recipe and need to purchase just one blueberry.

We are entering one of the biggest shopping seasons of the year. You'll no doubt have many gifts to purchase and no time for fun or pranks. That's probably a good thing, because following through with any of the ideas listed above could very well put you on Santa's naughty list, and we wouldn't want that. Ho, ho, ho, no.

What Europe and American have in common

Europe and the USA have many things in common, one of which noted currently is the massive debt crisis both are experiencing because of politicians who fail to learn from history. George Santayana noted that those who fail to learn from the mistakes of the past are doomed to repeat them. In both Europe and the United States, power-hungry politicians have been trying to buy votes with money we don't have, taxing not only this generation but every generation in the future, guaranteeing a lower standard of living for our children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. These short-sighted politicians, thinking only of the present, seem to think they can go on forever, steadily increasing the public debt, by just printing more and more money without an equal increase in goods and services, hoping to find someone to buy our consequently less and less valuable bonds. As history has repeatedly shown us, this does not work. Every society that has tried this has collapsed. A prime example is the Soviet Union. If socialism were a better system, we would all be speaking Russian. Previously democratic civilizations and nations that have tried this have collapsed into dictatorship. Some noteworthy examples are the Greeks, the Romans, and the post-World War I Weimer Republic of Germany, the latter printing so much money that its currency became virtually worthless, bankrupting the country, and resulting in the establishment of Hitler's Nazi (National Socialist) party dictatorship that brought on the horrors of World War II.

It is time to rid ourselves of such history-ignoring, out-of-touch-with-reality, power-mad politicians, ousting them from power, and never let them in office again.

Our Strengths Outweigh Our Weaknesses

By Lee H. Hamilton

There is a deep vein of pessimism running through the country right now. And I'm not even talking about the overwhelming numbers of people who tell pollsters that we're "on the wrong track," which suggests that we can simply throw a switch to get onto the right one.

More worrisome is the prevailing belief that our problems are here for the long haul. This was the message of a recent poll in the Capitol Hill newspaper The Hill, which found almost 70 percent of respondents saying that the U.S. is "in decline," 83 percent either very or somewhat worried about

Family

Mother, father, sister, brother
Friend and foe at times.

We all live together in closets
In houses in our minds.

Tho' we compare each other—in likes and skills, and tastes (houses, food, clothing, kids, education, free time, money and mates)

There always is this one thing that we can all agree,

We are someone

Who loves someone

Who loved someone on the Family Tree.

The genes have been a-working,

Crossing much ethnicity

Tall, short, stout or thin

Red hair, blue eyes, freckles, fair skin,
Change to dark complexion, brown eyes, wide grin.

Through generations without a doubt
Italian, Pole or German have mixed the pot.

Regardless of our difference

In what we do or say

The DNA within us is forever here to stay.

Your are me in essence,

I, too, am him.

All because we are someone

Who loves someone

Who loved someone on the Family Tree.

Have your turned your back on those you love
Or even lost your way?

Does drink or drugs occupy your day?

Too proud, or shy, or other baggage?

Not to fear—we all have luggage!

Whether in Nevada, Texas, Carolina or home.

It follows us wherever we roam.

So suck it up, forgive, forget

Start off new, we'll be a hit!

There always is this one thing that we can all agree

We still are someone

Who loves someone

Who loved someone on the Family Tree.

So when family comes to dine,

Breathe deep, stay calm, practice divine.

Look at them with eyes anew—and think...

He came from where I came from too.

If I'm all right—then he's ok,

No judging, guilt, hate or blame.

Like is so short for goodness sake!

After all, we are someone

Who loves someone

Who loved someone on the Family Tree.

the nation's future, and a bare 19 percent believing that the U.S. will still be the most powerful country on earth 20 years from now. Americans are dejected.

I understand the sentiment, but it is far too soon to give in to it. If you look at our system's abiding strengths, rather than the shortcomings of the moment, you can't help but conclude that the challenges ahead of us may be formidable, but they are not unmanageable.

For one thing, we have a durable Constitution that has given us more than two centuries of political stability — weathering along the way a civil war, multiple wars overseas, economic and political turmoil, and sweeping movements for social change. We work out our difficulties within its generous confines, not by ignoring it or trying to dismantle it. I've conducted hundreds of public meetings, some of them quite heated, and never once do I recall anyone suggesting that we ditch the U.S. Constitution.

Just as important, our nation possesses an open and energetic spirit. We have a long history of renewing ourselves through immigration and openness to new ideas and other cultures; we're blessed with vast economic resources and can deploy a dynamic, talented and innovative workforce; we educate our young adults at institutions of higher education that are the envy of the world; and we encourage all these assets to flourish in a free, secure and democratic society. Our fundamentals, in other words, are quite strong.

So is the system within which they operate. It may be hard these days to find many people who think of Congress or the political system it represents as being core American strengths, but they are. The system protects against arbitrary authority, enshrines fundamental power in a body elected by the broad mass of the people, and balances the three branches of government. It strives — however imperfectly — for liberty and justice for all.

It allows ordinary citizens to create change and try to improve the quality of American lives, encouraging this to happen in an evolutionary, not revolutionary, fashion. These values are alive and well in the hearts of the American people, who refresh the system every two years with their votes.

Our government is built on the belief that ultimate power rests with a diverse people, and that they need a way to make their many voices heard and to work out their differences peaceably. This is what Congress is about — it makes sure that society's varied and conflicting opinions are heard before government acts, it moderates tensions among competing interests, and it does so in a measured fashion that tends over time to force policy-makers to find consensus and move toward the center.

This is why, if you look backward, the work of the Congress over many decades has had such a fundamentally positive impact on Americans' daily lives, in ways we should be grateful we can take for granted.

I would be the last person to argue that things are perfect — either in Congress or within the political system as a whole. Our institutions need plenty of reforms that ought to be on the front burner and aren't. It would be hard to argue that, faced with a mass of serious challenges, we are dealing with them efficiently or with far-sightedness. Local, partisan and private interests too often prevail over the national interest. Our system too often favors the rich and ignores the poor, and the solutions to this and other fundamental problems often seem beyond our reach.

Yet these problems characterize this particular moment in our history, not our basic way of being. They may be discouraging, but they are not crippling. The American people have not given up on our system of government — they believe we can still build a shining city on a hill. Our challenge as a nation is not to reinvent ourselves, but to use the abundant strengths we possess to find our way through our problems and emerge stronger on the other side.

Lee Hamilton is Director of the Center on Congress at Indiana University. He was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives for 34 years.

Town & Country CHATTER...

By: Julie Brown Ph.: (574) 653-2451

Well, it had to happen sometime. We got our first snow of the season. It was a little later than normal, not arriving until Thursday, Nov. 10, but it could have waited longer.

Leonard and Nancy Evers had a visitor Sunday, Nov. 13. Stopping by in the evening for a chat was their son, Robert Evers.

Renee Colley was in Elmhurst, Illinois Monday, Nov. 14. She took care of an errand before dining with her friends, Kristy Cornell and Sue Fitzpatrick, in the evening. Renee remained overnight as a houseguest of Kristy in Shamburg.

Julie Brown accompanied Wendy Sutton, Luke and Tanner, to Kokomo Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. They did some non-holiday shopping and dined at the Long John Silvers restaurant.

Barb and Jon Gast had a caller Thursday, Nov. 17. Coming over in the evening for a pleasant family visit was their daughter, Cora Lynn Clemans.

Nancy Evers enjoyed spending Saturday morning, Nov. 19, with her daughter, Janet Yocum of Rochester. They were among those who attended the annual holiday craft show at the Fulton County 4-H fairgrounds. The event was hosted by the Fulton County Crafters Association. After checking out the selections, the ladies enjoyed lunch together.

Florence Hogan had working visitors Saturday. Arriving early in the day were her daughter and son-in-law, Wendy and Dan Kelly of Lafayette. The Kellys ran a couple of errands and tackled a few autumn-time chores around the house for Florence. Later, the trio enjoyed a visit over a pizza lunch.

Renee Colley and Dick Fedorchak traveled to Plymouth Sunday, Nov. 20. They enjoyed watching the movie "The Immortals" at the local theater.

Julie Brown had a fun time Sunday. She attended a party held in honor of one of her "munchkins," Luke Sutton. The event was in recognition of his 14th birthday and hosted by his parents and brother, Steve and Wendy Sutton and Tanner.

Florence Hogan had a couple of callers Sunday. Stopping by for a short, but sweet afternoon visit were her granddaughter and her husband, Wendy and Jonathan Shock.

Julie Brown had a fun time Monday evening, Nov. 21. She attended the Caston vs. North White junior high basketball game at Caston Schools. Luke Sutton is a member of the Caston 8th grade team.

Those persons who will be having birthdays next week (so please remember to give them your best regards) are: Breanna Fairchild, Joe Good and Angela Thomas, Nov. 27; Tia Allor, Andrew Buswell, Bill Evers and Raeann Hunter, Nov. 28; Jackie Agnew, Harold Dittman, David Jones, Morgan Kegarise and Jerry Kimble, Nov. 29; Makayla Banta, Hali Berry, Megan Easterday and Rich Powell, Nov. 30; Don Bennett, Jeff Good and Kathy Patty, Dec. 1; Cindy Eisbrenner, Matthew Moss and Shirley Zartman, Dec. 2; and Jamie Short, Dec. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Paul and Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson will be celebrating their wedding anniversaries Nov. 29 and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mills will be celebrating theirs Nov. 30.
