KEWANNA TOWN COUNCIL

The Kewanna town council met April 2 at the town hall with the council president, Jeff Finke, presiding. Others present were council members, Mark Smith and Dan Birge; clerk-treasurer, Jenny Kay; town marshal, Dennis Price; deputy marshal, Jon Sailors, Jr.; Larry Baldwin, Kyle Bowyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller.

Larry Baldwin gave the March fire department report noting six town alarms, three fire and three medical, and 13 township alarms, 11 fire and two medical. He also reported that a supervisory board has been formed for the workout room being established in the town garage building. This board includes Kyle Bowyer of the fire department; Mark Smith of the town council; and Jon Sailors of the police department. Kyle Bowyer requested permission to install a keypad lock on the door to the workout room to eliminate the cost and uncertainty of providing keys to departmental members who will be using the room. The council okayed the request and suggested there be a sign-in sheet for those using the room. A note was received from Tony Pesaresi informing the council that another blood drive will take place at the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Department on May 19. Pesaresi has also been working on the licensing for the FCC radios at the town hall. There is a cost of $650 to update as well as an additional cost for a new radio that is narrow-band capable.

Marshal Dennis Price gave his March report which revealed five traffic warnings, eight criminal arrests, 39 calls answered and 1,409 miles patrolled. Price also submitted price quotes for new tires for the department's Trailblazer along with specs for a new police vehicle. The council okayed the purchase of tires and will begin looking for a new vehicle around August.

The council set May 30 as townwide clean up day. Marshal Price will begin writing up residents for trash ordinance violations when the weather breaks, allowing them the opportunity to get their properties cleaned up and dispose of trash on clean up day.

The issue of loose dogs was addressed. The police department will actively enforce the town's ordinances pertaining to dogs. The ordinances state that it is unlawful for any dog owner to fail to exercise proper care and control of his or her dog or dogs so as to prevent the following actions by it or them:

- (A) molesting of passers-by;
- (B) chasing of passing vehicles;(C) attacking other domestic animals;
- (D) trespassing upon private property or school property;

- (E) damaging private or public property;
- (F) habitual barking or loud and continued noise; or
- (G) unnecessary foul or noxious odors which offend people in the neighborhood

It is also unlawful to permit any dog to run at large within the corporate limits of the town. Any dog running at large within the town shall be impounded.

Bill Miller requested the trimming or removal of a town tree in front of his residence. The town superintendent is aware of the tree as well as one to the east of it. The town will get a quote on trimming or removing the trees and make its decision at the May meeting.

An anonymous letter concerning the use of barrels for burning was discussed. The council determined it will not ban barrel burning, but will continue to enforce Ordinance No. 061906.

Town superintendent, Mike Molitor, and council member, Jeff Finke, along with the town's grant writer, Bob Murphy, engineer, Mike Strang, and contractor, Mark Hall, were scheduled to attend a meeting in Indianapolis today (Thursday) to discuss a time extension request on the sewage construction project with the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs.

Claims against the town, water and sewage works were okayed for payment.

The superintendent's monthly report noted that he had shown the town's sewage treatment plant, including the work in progress, to mayors from Marion and Portland, and sewage treatment employees from Rochester. Jack Sheaffer of Sheaffer, Inc., and Stu Rhoades were also present. The group appeared to be impressed with the town's facility and Mr. Rhoades plans to bring more interested parties to tour the facility.

Molitor noted that five inches of rain fell in the area over a three-day period. Catch basins were cleaned to help the water get away. Sewer lines were also checked to see if signs of infiltration could be found. Rex Urbin was called in as only one pump was running at the No. 2 lift station. He found some burned wires in the control panel. One of the pumps at the No. 1 lift station became air-locked and a return hose started to leak. Town employees were able to make the repairs, but Urbin was called back to the No. 2 station to make some repairs on the lights and fan controls.

The state wastewater inspector was here in March. He found no violations but asked that Don Bixby, who does testing at the treatment plant for the town, make some changes in his paperwork. He also wanted to talk to Bixby about his sampling procedures. Bixby and the inspector have since conferred and everything is okay. The inspector questioned the hourly irrigation application rate and requested that the superintendent determine the type of soil being irrigated and convert the gallons applied to inches of wastewater. The result was that the treatment plant is within 1/10 of an inch of the limit, which is acceptable. The inspector is checking to see if the town should be doing some more testing.

Repairs were made to a 15" tile at East and Brunk Streets that was plugged with tree roots. A sinkhole at Main and East Street developed and was repaired.

Local residents have been doing a lot a spring clean up and tree trimming so an extra effort has been made at the dump site to keep the debris pushed into a pile for future burning.

Too often people react to every symptom by gulping down pills to alleviate discomfort. Got a cold? Buy an over-the-counter remedy. Gain a few pounds over the holidays? Head for the diet pills. Tired? Take a pill to sleep. Can't sleep? There's a pill for that too. Irregularity or diarrhea...pills and potions for both! The message is: just pop a pill and you'll be fine. NOT.

Do you really think something from the outside will change something on the inside? Health comes from within. A properly functioning body can do everything naturally that pills attempt to do chemically. Excerpts from Chiropractic First

Some good advice

The following pointers were forwarded from a Lake Bruce reader. The tips were sent out by a corporate attorney to the employees in his company after his wallet was stolen.

- 1. Do not sign the back of your credit cards. Instead, put "Photo ID Required".
- 2. When you are writing checks to pay on your credit card accounts, DO NOT put the complete account number on the "For" line. Instead, just put the last four numbers. The credit card company knows the rest of the number, and anyone who might be handling your check as it passes through the check processing channels won't have access to it.
- 3. Put your work phone number on your checks instead of your home phone. If you have a post office box, use that instead of your home address. If you do not have a post office box, use your work address. NEVER have your social security number printed on your checks. You can add it if it is necessary. But if you have it printed, anyone can get it.
- 4. Place the contents of your wallet on a photocopy machine. Copy both sides of each license, credit card, etc. Then if you're your wallet is stolen, you will know what you had in your wallet and all of the account numbers and phone numbers to call and cancel. Keep the photocopy in a safe place. This attorney also carries a photocopy of his passport whether traveling here or abroad. Everyone has heard horror stories about fraud that's committed on us in stealing a name, address, social security number, credit card.
- 5. We've all been told we should cancel our credit cards immediately. But the key is having the toll free numbers and your card numbers handy so you know whom to call, Keep those where you can find them.
- 6. File a police report immediately in the jurisdiction where your credit cards, etc., were stolen. This proves to credit providers you were diligent and this is a first step toward an investigation, if there ever is one.
- 7. Call the three national credit reporting organizations immediately to place a fraud alert on your name and also call the social security fraud line number. This is very important and something the attorney did not think to do until a bank called and told him an application for credit had been made over the Internet in his name. The alert means any company that checks your credit knows your information was stolen and they have to contact you by phone to authorize new credit.

EARTH TALK

Questions & Answers About Our Environment

Dear EarthTalk: I am looking at possibly buying a house that is very close to a gasoline station. Is it safe to live so close to a gas station? What concerns should I have? I have toddler and infant babies. --Ranjeeta, Houston, TX

Despite all the modern health and safety guidelines they must follow, gas stations can still pose significant hazards to neighbors, especially children. Some of the perils include ground-level ozone caused in part by gasoline fumes, groundwater hazards petroleum products from leaking into the ground, and exposure hazards from other chemicals that might be used at the station if it's also a repair shop.

Ozone pollution is caused by a mixture of volatile organic compounds, some of which are found in gasoline vapors, and others, like carbon monoxide, that come from car exhaust. Most gas pumps today must have government-regulated vaporrecovery boots on their nozzles, which limit the release of gas vapors while you're refueling your car. A similar system is used by the station when a tanker arrives to refill the underground tanks. But if those boots aren't working properly, the nearly odorless hydrocarbon fumes, which contain harmful chemicals like benzene, can be released into the air.

Higher ozone levels can lead to respiratory problems and asthma, while benzene is a known cancer-causing chemical, according to the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The quest to reduce ozone levels has led the state of California to implement a more stringent vapor-recovery law, effective April 1, 2009, which requires that all gasoline pumps have a new, more effective vapor-recovery nozzle.

Underground gasoline storage tanks can also be a problem. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) estimates that there are some 660,000 of them from coast-to-coast. Many a lawsuit has been filed against oil firms in communities across the country by people whose soil and groundwater were fouled by gas station's leaking underground storage tank. In the past, most tanks were made of uncoated steel, which will rust over time. Also, pipes leading to the tanks can be accidentally ruptured.

When thousands of gallons of gasoline enter the soil, chemicals travel to groundwater, which the EPA says is the source of drinking water for nearly half the U.S. If buying a home, consider its potential loss in value if a nearby underground storage tank were to leak. Gasoline additives such as methyl tertiary-butyl ether (MTBE), which has been outlawed in some states, make the water undrinkable-and that is only one of 150 chemicals in gasoline. Repeated high exposure to gasoline, whether in liquid or vapor form, can cause lung, brain and kidney damage, according to the NIH's National Library of Medicine.

Spilled or vaporized gasoline is not the only chemical hazard if the station is also a repair shop. Mechanics use solvents, antifreeze and lead products, and may work on vehicles that have asbestos in brakes or clutches. Auto refinishers and paint shops use even more potentially harmful chemicals.

In today's car-centric world, we exposure escape can't completely, because these chemicals are in our air just about everywhere. But by choosing where we live, keeping an eye out for spills, and pressuring the oil companies to do the right thing for the communities they occupy, we can minimize our exposures.

NIPSCO JOINS GOVERNOR MITCH DANIELS TO RECOGNIZE NATIONAL SAFE DIGGING MONTH CUSTOMERS URGED TO CALL 811 BEFORE DIGGING

Northern Indiana Public Service Company joins Governor Mitch Daniels and the Common Ground Alliance in recognizing the month of April as National Safe Digging Month, which is dedicated to increasing awareness of safe digging practices across the country and to promote use of the Indiana 811 call-before-you-dig number.

"NIPSCO is committed to keeping customers safe when starting any outdoor digging project, large or small," said Colleen Reilly, Director of Communications and Public Affairs. "Since the month of April is a busy time for digging projects, we are encouraging homeowners and contractors to call the convenient 811 number before they dig to prevent injuries, property damage and inconvenient outages."

Failure to call 811 before digging results in more than 256,000 unintentional utility damages annually across the country — an average of 700 incidents per day.

Whether Hoosiers are planning on planting trees, building a deck, installing a mailbox or any other project that involves digging, Indiana 811 offers the following recommendations for a busy digging season:

- Always call 811 before digging, regardless of the depth or familiarity with the property.
- Tell neighbors, coworkers, family and friends about 811 if they discuss their plans for an outdoor home improvement project with you.
- Plan ahead Indiana 811 is always open. Just make sure you call at least two working days in advance of your project start date.
- Avoid starting projects until you're sure all lines are marked. If you're unsure, confirm that all lines have been marked by contacting Indiana 811.
- Choose another location on the property for a project if the original planned site is near utility line markings.
- If your excavation is within two feet of the marked facility, you must only use hand tools with extreme caution.
- If a contractor has been hired, confirm that a call to 811 has been made. Don't allow work to begin if the lines aren't marked.

Visit www.indiana811.org for more information about 811 and the call-before-you-dig process.

NIPSCO ANNOUNCES DECREASE IN GAS COST FOR APRIL

Northern Indiana Public Service Company announced today that the Gas Cost Adjustment for April decreased compared to last month. This month's decrease is attributed to an expected decrease in wholesale natural gas prices as compared to the previous month, and the depletion of underground gas storage supplies, which were filled during the spring and summer of 2008 when gas costs reached an all-time high.

NIPSCO residential customers will see a decrease in natural gas costs of 42.50 percent when compared to March 2009. The Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission approved the adjustment subject to refund.

A typical NIPSCO residential customer using 100 therms of natural gas should expect a decrease of approximately $45.51 from last month's statement in their April billing, although total bill amounts will vary as a result of actual consumption.

Coping with Shingles

Pat Smith Director of Media Marketing pmhnet.com

Many of us experienced the itching and soreness chickenpox as children. Still, the discomfort of that illness is nothing compared to the pain of

Caused by the varicella-zoster virus, which also causes chickenpox, shingles typically occurs many years after you've had chickenpox. Researchers believe that some virus particles lie dormant in your nervous system for years. Then, the virus reemerges as shingles.

Symptoms of shingles include:

- Burning or tingling pain in one part or side of your body
- Numbness
- Itching
- A red rash of fluid-filled blisters
- Headache
- Fever and chills
- Upset stomach abdominal pain

Treatment: To treat shingles, your doctor may prescribe pain anti-inflammatory relievers, and/or drugs. antiviral medications. You also can use anti-itch creams, calamine lotion, and antihistamines; wash the blisters twice a day; apply cool, wet compresses; and take cool baths with baking soda or oatmeal.

Prevention: No one knows what causes shingles to appear, but some believe that as we age, our lowered immunity makes us more vulnerable. That's why it's important to ask your doctor about a shingles vaccine if you're 60 or older. The single injection doesn't completely protect you. However, the vaccine may help reduce the length and severity of shingles. It also may reduce your risk of postherpetic neuralgia, severe pain that lasts long after the blisters disappear.
