THE LAKE BRUCE CONSERVANCY
DISTRICT
NEWS

The Lake Bruce Conservancy District held its monthly meeting May 14 in the community room of the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Station. Directors present included Kathy Fisher, Rick Tompos, Brad Glasson and Gerald Porter plus 18 freeholders and three guests.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Chairman Porter covered correspondence for the last month. Attorney Andy Perkins of Rochester has agreed to represent the district when litigation is required with sewer billing and collection issues. The board voted to authorize Porter to sign a legal representation agreement with Perkins.

The dredging project has been finalized and contracts have been awarded. The dredger will be Jeff Krevda of DTI. The dredging spoils basin will be constructed by Gudas Excavating and it will be located on the property of Eric Gudas on 1100 West.

The district is moving forward with plans to build an office/meeting hall with grant money remaining from the sewer project. The building is slated to be placed at the wastewater treatment plant site to serve the Lake Bruce community. Twin Peaks Construction has offered a proposal that has been submitted to Rural Development for approval.

A long standing over voltage issue at the west vacuum station has been solved. The problem was a set-up issue that was solved by a technician from Buckeye Power. A second problem at the same station was solved when NIPSCO replaced a service transformer that was too small to carry the load, under all conditions, with a larger capacity unit.

The Lake Bruce Conservancy District is still seeking candidates to complete the term left vacant by the resignation of Norm Steigely. Anyone interested should send their resume to The LBCD at 1829 N 675 E, Kewanna, IN 46939.

The wastewater treatment plant operator, Richard Denney, reported that the wastewater treatment plant needs more flow to function properly. The district has received violations at the plant that to date are explained by a slow start up, low flow and cold winter. Getting more homes connected will solve the problem.

Inspector Paul Bradley reported that 92 home connections have been completed. The board urges all Lake Bruce property owners, not now connected, to make arrangements and get connected as soon as possible.

Rick Tompos reported on sewer billing and liens. The number of delinquent notices decreased this month from 41 to 31. There are 19 new liens for the first quarter of 2009.

Because of the rough winter and few contractors working the area, the board extended the sewer connection deadline to August 31, 2009. A property owner may apply for a 30 day hardship extension by appearing before the board at a regular meeting and submitting their request in writing.

Porter informed the board of the need for an emergency generator maintenance program to keep the manufacturers warranty in effect. He requested a proposal for preventative maintenance from H&G Services of South Bend.

The board has some information on sewer connection financial help for those who qualify. Contact any director or Inspector Bradley for more information.

Weed Patrol mapped the lake recently and planned to treat the weeds May 19.

The Association of Indiana Conservancy Districts has asked the LBCD to renew its membership at $250 per year. The board voted not to renew.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:20 p.m. The next meeting will be June 11 at 7 p.m. in the community room of the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Station.

Health Bites from the heart of the staff of Woodlawn Hospital

Early Detection

Your best defense against Breast Cancer.

When found and treated in its earliest stage, breast cancer is highly curable. The American Cancer Society recommends women over the age of 40 have a mammogram every year, and women ages 20-39 have a clinical breast exam every three years. A mammogram is your best defense at finding cancer when its small, often years before you would be able to feel it.

Woodlawn Hospital now offers digital mammography, the most advanced screening technology available, to provide you with the best possible care. Digital mammography utilizes a computer instead of film, which means accurate results in less time. With so much help on your side, so close to home, there is no reason to delay. Remember, early detection is the best way to fight against breast cancer - call your doctor or call our Diagnostic Imaging department at (574) 224-1151 today.

LOCALS

Janel Norris recently returned from a three week vacation in Costa Rica. As a houseguest of long-time friend, Bonnie Riggle, the two enjoyed visiting many of the country's most magnificent sights, including four days at the active volcano, Arenal, in LaFortuna, where the natural hot springs fill a series of cascading, soothing, soaking pools. The wet bar, spa and Jacuzzi, along with the excellent restaurant were "not hard to take" according to Janel. Many Founders Day festivals were taking place during Janel's visit so the two friends traveled to San Jose, Alajuela, Naranjo and San Juan, among others. One of the most thrilling was the cloud forest where canopy rides or the mountain tram take you for an aerial ride not to be forgotten. Bonnie has spent the last four winters living in or around Grecia, a wonderful enterprising small town, which produces much of the country's sugar cane and coffee. Janel notes the trip was a dream come true for her - beautiful country, warm, friendly people, excellent food, pure, clean water and many new cultural experiences each day. On her next visit, she plans on "zip-lining" over the forest top.

Those persons who will be having birthdays next week (so please have your best regards) are: Dan Birge, Wade Bussert, Grace Buswell, Angie Garbison, Alex Howdeshell, Samantha Nikolich and Graham Redweik, May 31; Hannah Gowens, Trudy Haney, Dominick Ricks and Mable Wolfe, June 1; Kim Boyer, Biel Davies, Ken Haimbaugh, and Linda Hawkey, June 2; Mike Brown, June 3; Lori Kamp, June 4; Alexandria Baker, Frances Easterday and Chad Weller, June 5; and Hannah Miller, Harry Richter, Seth Scantlen and Junior Sutton, June 6.

There are nine couples who will be celebrating their wedding anniversaries next week: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Good and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tomerlin, June 1; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Molitor, Mr. and Mrs. Don Nellans and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Urbin, June 2; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ruman, June 3; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Neal and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Zellers, June 5; and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Cogdill, June 6.

Columbus visitors enjoy #1 zoo, science museum in the US

Columbus, Ohio - A dynamic duo of the best science museum and the best zoo in the nation help ensure that visitors to Columbus this summer will have an unforgettable experience. Recently, USA Travel Guide named the Columbus Zoo and Aquarium the #1 Zoo in America. In addition, Parents magazine named Columbus' science museum, COSI, the #1 Science Center in the country. Complete information on the Columbus Zoo and COSI, including getaway packages that feature both of these exceptional attractions, is available at ExperienceColumbus.com or by calling (866) EXP-COLS. Parents magazine selected COSI for its #1 pick after an exhaustive survey, which included detailed information about exhibits, science demonstrations, special events, camps, and classes. The magazine also considered stroller-friendliness of the facility, dining options, the quality of the staff, conveniences like family restrooms and whether the center was a good value based on the admission price in relation to the number of exhibits. Parents analyzed all those factors to compile its report.

COSI is Columbus' dynamic hands-on science center, featuring more than 300 interactive exhibitions and more than 100,000 square feet of exhibit space. A seven-story Extreme Screen Theater boasts the largest screen in Ohio. An outdoor science park, a special area for tiny explorers ages 0 through kindergarten and the country's only high-wire unicycle add to the center's allure as a #1 family destination. COSI also offers a variety of special events, family programs, camps, and more. Complete COSI information, hours, rates and more are available at www.cosi.org.

One of the world's top travel Web sites for information on US destinations, USA Travel Guide said that none of the zoos selected for its Top Ten Zoos list have achieved the positive worldwide reputation of the Columbus Zoo, calling it "arguably America's favorite." The accolades went on to say that the zoo's reputation grew to great heights under direction of the amiable "Jungle Jack" Hanna, one of America's most beloved animal experts. USA Travel Guide called the Columbus Zoo "the aspiration of any traditional zoo," pointing to its 7,000 animals and its recent expansion to include a waterpark, amusement park and golf resort.

A new baby elephant was just born at the Zoo in April. In addition to visiting the pachyderms and a renowned lowland guerilla exhibit, Columbus Zoo is one of just a few US zoos to house Queensland koalas, bonobos and manatees. A new Polar Frontier exhibit, featuring polar bears, is under construction and expected to open in 2010. Columbus is also the only zoo in the nation to feature its own waterpark, Zoombezi Bay, offering even more memorable experiences for families. Detailed information about the Zoo is available at www.columbuszoo.org.

Columbus is a city unlike any other. Vibrant and alive, Ohio's capital city is known for its unique style: an uncommon blend of neighborhoods, events, attractions and accommodations. Free visitors guides, maps and complete information about visiting Columbus are available from Experience Columbus, the region's convention and visitors bureau, by visiting www.ExperienceColumbus.com or calling 1-866-EXP-COLS. The web site offers on-line booking at more than 125 hotels and the ability to build a personal itinerary through its "My Planner" feature.

NIPSCO Launches New Online Electric System Outage Information

As the spring and summer storm season approaches, Northern Indiana Public Service Company announces a new feature that will provide customers real-time updates on current electric outages, while providing its customers with helpful information to stay safe and informed when a storm hits or an outage occurs.

"It's important for our customers to have a solid understanding of what to do when an outage takes place and how the restoration process works, especially after a devastating storm," said Tim Dehring, NIPSCO senior vice president of energy delivery. "This year, we're introducing a new on-line tool to help customers get current information on electric outages in their area or across NIPSCO's service territory in real-time."

The new electric system outage map is accessible by visiting www.nipSCO.com.

Restoration Process

As a storm approaches, NIPSCO's Customer Contact Center stands ready to field calls in the event of electric outages. Customers calling NIPSCO to report an outage play an integral part in helping NIPSCO restore power quickly.

Once damage from a major storm is assessed, NIPSCO will do its best to broadly communicate estimated restoration times for each community impacted.

During major outages, NIPSCO works to restore power to critical facilities such as hospitals, lift stations, nursing homes, as well as police and fire stations. At the same time, NIPSCO crews are assessing damage and restoring power to areas where the greatest number of residential customers can be brought online as quickly and safely as possible.

Storm Safety Information

One of the most important safety tips NIPSCO recommends is for customers to monitor the weather and know what type of weather is forecast for the area. Below is a general overview of what NIPSCO does - and what customers should do - before, during and after storms.

Before the Storm

NIPSCO monitors the weather 24/7 using state-of-the-art mapping technology and forecasting information. When a major storm is forecast, NIPSCO crews are put on alert and prepared to respond. Customers can also prepare for storms by following the customer safety tips below:

- Compile a storm preparedness kit, which should include essential medicines, non-perishable food items and water, flashlights, portable radios, and a manual can opener. Know the location of your emergency supply kit.

- Review your evacuation plan. Have the phone numbers of evacuation destinations with you as well as a road map. You may need to take alternate routes if major roads are closed or clogged.
- Check to see if shrubs or trees need trimming or if you have any weak limbs. Be particularly careful when working near power lines. Also, remove items near the home that could possibly become airborne (toys, trash cans, etc.).

During the Storm

NIPSCO closely monitors the storm and its electric infrastructure. Crews and equipment are mobilized to restore power. Personnel at NIPSCO's call center are answering phones to collect outage reports. Customers should:

- Listen to local radio or TV stations for up-to-date storm information, including knowing what a tornado WATCH and WARNING means.
- Pick a place where family members can gather if a tornado is headed your way. It could be your basement or, if there is no basement, a center hallway, bathroom, or closet on the lowest floor. Keep away from windows.
- Fill your gas tank before a storm arrives, as gas pumps do not work if electricity is out. Automatic teller machines will also be shut off if the power goes, so have cash on hand.

Following the Storm:

NIPSCO crews will work around-the-clock to restore power. During severe storms, it may take several hours after the storm subsides before damage reports can be analyzed and restoration efforts are prioritized. Following storm activity, customers should:

- Immediately report a power outage or any power line hazards by calling NIPSCO at 1-800-4-NIPSCO (1-800-464-7726). Do not touch downed or hanging power lines or anything touching them.
- Monitor the status of power restoration activities on local radio stations, or at www.nipSCO.com.
- Avoid opening the refrigerator or freezer. Food will stay frozen in a fully loaded freezer for 36 to 48 hours if the doors remain closed. If the freezer is half full, the food will generally keep 24 hours.
- Keep candles away from furniture, draperies and other flammable materials. Also, keep children and pets away from open flames.
- Disconnect or turn off appliances that were on when the power outage occurred. Leave a light on so you will know when power is restored.
- If you leave your home while the power is out, double-check that all heat producing appliances, such as stoves, irons and curling irons are unplugged before you leave.
- If there is severe damage and it appears that the outage will last an extended period of time, consider moving to an alternate location.

EARTH TALK

Dear EarthTalk: How does the microwave compare in energy use, say, to using a gas or electric stove burner to heat water for a cup of tea? - Temple, Dexter, MI

The short answer is that it depends upon several variables, including the price of electricity versus gas, and the relative efficiency of the appliances involved. Typically, though, a microwave would be slightly more efficient at heating water than the flame on a gas stove, and should use up a little less energy. The reason: The microwave's heat waves are focused on the liquid (or food) inside, not on heating the air or container around it, meaning that most if not all of the energy generated is used to make your water ready.

Given this logic, it is hard to believe that a burner element on an electric stovetop would be any better, but an analysis by Home Energy Magazine found otherwise. The magazine's researchers discovered that an electric burner uses about 25 percent less electricity than a microwave in boiling a cup of water.

That said, the difference in energy saved by using one method over another is negligible: Choosing the most efficient process might save a heavy tea drinker a dollar or so a year. "You'd save more energy over the year by replacing one light bulb with a CFL [compact fluorescent lightbulb] or turning off the air conditioner for an hour—not an hour a day, one hour at some point over the whole year," says consumer advocate Michael Bluejay.

Although a microwave may not save much energy or money over a stove burner when heating water, it can be much more energy-efficient than a traditional full-size oven when it comes to cooking food. For starters, because their heat waves are concentrated on the food, microwaves cook and heat much faster than traditional ovens. According to the federal government's Energy Star program, which rates appliances based on their energy-efficiency, cooking or re-heating small portions of food in the microwave can save as much as 80 percent of the energy used to cook or warm them up in the oven.

The website Treehugger.com reports that there are other things you can do to optimize your energy efficiency around the kitchen when cooking. For starters, make sure to keep the inside surfaces of your microwave oven clean so as to maximize the amount of energy reflected toward your food. On a gas stovetop, make sure the flame is fully below the cookware; likewise, on an electric stovetop, make sure the pan or kettle completely covers the heating element to minimize wasted heat. Also, use the appropriate size pan for the job at hand, as smaller pans are cheaper and more energy-efficient to heat up.

Despite these tips for cooking greener, Bluejay reiterates that most of us will hardly put a dent in our overall energy use just by choosing one appliance over another. According to his analysis, for someone who bakes three hours a week the cheapest cooking method saves only an estimated $2.06/month compared to the most expensive method.

"Focusing on cooking methods is not the way to save electricity [at home]," says Bluejay. "You should look at heating, cooling, lighting and laundry instead."

Save Energy With No-Bake S'Mores Bars

(NAPS)—Going green at home begins with simple steps such as recycling and lowering energy costs. One easy way to cut costs is turning off the oven, a welcome relief when the weather turns warm.

According to Sun-Maid Growers of California, a 1,000-member cooperative that produces dried fruits, raisins have been made with solar energy for centuries, by simply drying in the sun.

Raisin growers produce natural raisins from just grapes and sunshine. The use of sun drying over 90 percent of California raisins, as opposed to the 6 trillion Btu of natural gas it would take to use dryers, is significant energy savings and good for the environment.

So this year, turn off the oven and make up some no-bake s'mores bars with raisins for a nutritious and energy-saving treat. These bars are perfect for picnics, backyard gatherings and snacking.

No-Bake S'mores Bars

- 1 cup (6 oz.) milk chocolate or semisweet chocolate chips
- 2 tablespoons nut butter (peanut, almond or cashew)

These delicious no-bake s'mores bars use tasty sun-dried raisins. It's a nutritious and energy-saving treat.

- 1/2 cups Sun-Maid Natural Raisins or Golden Raisins OR one package (7 oz.) Sun-Maid Fruit Bits
- 1 1/2 cups minimarshmallows
- 3 graham crackers (rectangles), coarsely broken

Combine chocolate chips and nut butter in a large microwave-safe bowl. Heat on medium power 2-3 minutes; stir until chocolate is melted.

Stir dried fruit, marshmallows and graham crackers into chocolate mixture just until evenly coated. Press evenly into an 8 x 8-inch pan. Let stand until firm, about 30 minutes. Cut into squares. Makes 16 bars.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Walk-the-Walk for Hope Hospice 2009 was a great success! 70 walkers showed up on a cool, damp Saturday to remember loved ones who have passed and add awareness for the services of Hope Hospice for Fulton County and the surrounding area. Hope Hospice has had the honor and privilege of caring for our community for the last 14 years. Without the generosity of our community we could not provide the personal and compassionate health care our community deserves.

With the donations of our sponsors, we provided prizes for four different categories:

Ruth Anne Markley – most money received through pledges ($530). She received a Vizio 26" LCD flat panel TV.

Cindy Davies, Nashville, TN – farthest traveled walker. She received a Casio digital camera.

Betty Miller – oldest walker. She received a 9" digital photo frame.

Larissa Newcomer – youngest walker. She received a DQ ice cream cake and a $25 gift card from Wal-mart.

We would like to thank our corporate sponsors. With their donations we were able to provide prizes and gifts to all who walked. The sponsors include Air Way Oxygen, First Federal Savings, Hoffman Quality Graphics, Life Care Center of Rochester, Murray's, Hometown Electronics Radio Shack, Towne Home Furnishings, Webb's Pharmacy, Woodlawn Hospital, Hardesty Printing, Bailey's Furniture, Elks Lodge, Aflac, Culligan Water and Jim Downs, Arby's, Fansler Lumber, The Wellness Center of Rochester, Dairy Queen, Flirts, Dorothy's Hallmark, Evergreen, Jarrety's, McDonald's, Rochester Green-house, Nubiano's, Pizza Hut, Subway, Streamliner, Quality Quick Lube, Oil Change Express, Sears, B&B Men's Wear, Rochester Bagel & Deli, Tweedle Dee's, Rochester Meats & Deli, Bloomin' Corner, Moose Family Fun Center of Rochester, Nikki's Creative Hair, Mama's Pizza, Rochester Sentinel, Rochester Telephone, Deans Foods, Mill Creek Golf Course, Kroger, Walmart, Rochester Athletic Department, Team Pride and WROI for promoting the Walk-the-Walk.

Dear Editor,

Recently the sign designating the Compassionate Health Center went up on the north end of the Eastside Office Complex at State Road 25 North (Rochester). This health center will serve the uninsured of Fulton County ages 18 through 64. Until I did some research, I did not realize the magnitude of the need for this center. In Fulton County, it is estimated that one in three people in the 18 to 64 age bracket could qualify for its services. Our uninsured are primarily our working people who just can't afford coverage and who do not qualify for government assistance. In essence, they 'fall through the cracks'. Often these people put off seeing a health care professional because they know they cannot afford to pay the fee...thus, they often end up in a crisis situation. This center will help to prevent these crises from developing because when the person becomes a patient, treatment and/or prevention measures can be started.

Wow! What a difference the Compassionate Health Center will make for our friends. They will be able to maintain a healthier, more productive life. As I have been hearing from the health Center's board and others..."A healthy community begins with healthy neighbors".

Please join me in support of this center.

For more information you may contact the health center by calling 223-6080 or by e-mail at info@compassionatehealthcenter.org.

Thank you,

Thank You.....

The family of Jackie Heidenreich would like to thank Pastor Demetrius Anagnostu and Chad from the Baptist Church for the time spent with our mother every Saturday. She looked forward to your visits each week. Also, thank you pastor for the time you spent with all of us during the last hours of her life and for attending to the meticulous details for her special funeral service. It was beautiful and Mom would have loved it.

A heart-felt thanks to dear Michelle from Hope Hospice for her kindness toward Mom and the entire family. Your caring dedication was so appreciated. The Baptist ladies and the WCS Relay for Life team provided us a wonderful dinner, so we'd like to specially thank them, as well. Lastly, we'd like to thank those who sent food, cards, phone calls, and caring thoughts and prayers. These last few weeks have been sort of rough and it was all of you who have helped us through. God bless you.

Wow! What a day, thanks for being part of Dad's birthday celebration. He received 112 cards so far and they are still coming. A little over 200 people attended his birthday open house on May 17. He will be donating $177.99 to the Kewanna-Union Township Volunteer Fire Department. There was $153.83 in the jar at the end of the day and the rest was enclosed in cards. Thank you for helping make his day and our day special.
